Week ending Friday 14th January 2022

This week's Learning

Pupils have completed their Narrative Poems which include a range of poetic features. During our topic session, they researched the origin of the English Language producing a timeline of the invading groups who have impacted our language. They also identified words which are new to the English language. In Computing, they have experimented with inputting data on a spreadsheet and have begun to use the statistical tools. They participated in a Philosophy for Children assembly where they explored their personal goals and the steps they need to take in order to achieve them.
