Week ending: Friday, 7 January 2022

This Week's Learning

English

We marked the homework that the girls had been set over the Christmas holidays: SPaG Test and Reading Test. Today we completed a reading comprehension.

Maths

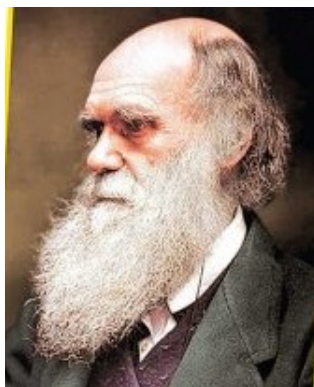

We marked the 3 mathematics papers that the girls had been given for homework.

Science

Evolution and adaptation

This week we learnt how Charles Darwin explored the concept of evolution as the gradual changing of the features of species over time. We also learnt about his interesting life.

Next week, we are going to look at the genetic characteristic, which parents pass on to their offspring.
