Year 5 Newsletter

Week ending Friday 13th January, 2023

This week pupils have started the new class text Kensuke's Kingdom. They have planned and written two accounts of a ship's log from the point of view of the protagonist.

In Maths, they have used bar models to find a fraction of a fractional remainder, extending this knowledge to solve two-step word problems. They have also found the product of an improper fraction and a proper fraction.

Our focus and discussion in Geography allowed for pupils to recognise that we live our lives by fitting within the landscape. They understand that we make an impact on our place and our place affects what we can do and who we are.

In PSHE, pupils wrote about their dreams and ambitions.

Pupils commenced a 5-week workshop on Equality. This week, the focus was for pupils to explain what diversity means in relation to the class, school and the wider community and identify the benefits of living in a diverse group.
