Week ending: Friday, 23rd February 2024

English:

We have started a new book called Gorilla by Anthony Browne. This week, the girls have been exploring the illustrations in the book to predict what the book may be about. They also compared two scenes between Hannah and her father and Hannah and the gorilla. Describing these two scenes have helped the girls practice using prepositions, adjectives and similes.

Maths:

We have finished our volume unit. Ask your daughter if she can tell you the difference between volume and capacity. We are impressed with how far the girls have come with solving word problems using bar models. We have started money today—the girls have been practicing recognising different coins and notes and their values.

RE:

We have started our new topic in Christianity. The key enquiry question for this half term is - What is 'good' about Good Friday?

The girls will be recalling the Easter story and will understand why Jesus' crucifixion symbolises hope for Christians.

Next lesson, the girls will be learning about the Last Supper.

DT: The girls have explored Mayan culture through different DT lessons. This week year 3 has explored the story of the Mayan Creation Story. They have read and watched the story and they have designed a puppet boxed bases in the characters : Tepeu, the Maker and Gucumatz, the Feathered Spirit.
