This Week...

English

Pupils explored the dramatic world of the seaside, using rich vocabulary and vivid imagination to plan and write their own atmospheric setting descriptions.

Maths

pupils developed their understanding of measurement by converting between units of length and mass. They applied their knowledge through a range of practical examples and exercises, enhancing both their problem-solving skills and real-world mathematical fluency.

Science

Pupils became flower detectives, dissecting real blooms and using microscopes and magnifying glasses to explore their parts. They compared different flowers, spotting fascinating similarities and differences.

On Thursday, pupils participated in a Live assembly about how to make London more sustainable and what they can do to help.

R.E: Pupils explored how people decide what to believe. They learnt that Humanists based their views in evidence, reason and science. Through thoughtful discussion, they considered a range of statements and reflected on whether a Humanist would agree with each one and why.

This week pupils took STAR reading and maths assessments, helping them understand their progress and areas for improvement. As we work to close any gaps and prepare them for Year 6, your support at home, through regular reading, revision, and a positive learning attitude remains vital.
