This Week's Learning

In Maths, Year 6 have been exploring multiplication and division. They then used these calculations to solve word problems.

In writing lessons, our girls have been exploring Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet by writing diary entries from Juliet's perspective, expressing her thoughts and feelings in their own words.

In Science, Year 6 investigated how the Earth's rotation on its axis causes the position of the Sun to change during the day, and how this affects the length of shadows. They also explored the relative sizes of the Sun, moon and the Earth.

In Computing this week, the children learnt how to write an algorithm for a program that simulates a physical system.

In PSHE, this week, Year 6 explored the universal rights of children. They developed an understanding that while these rights belong to every child, they are not always met for children around the world.

As part of their learning, they watched a video about the working conditions of children on plantation farms in Ghana, which helped them reflect on the importance of protecting children's rights everywhere.
